Design your help center

A help center is a resource provided by companies or organizations to assist users in finding information and solutions to their questions or problems. It typically includes:

1. FAQs: A list of frequently asked questions that cover common issues or inquiries.
2. Guides and Tutorials: Step-by-step instructions and documents that help users understand how to use products or services.
3. Troubleshooting Information: Tips and solutions for resolving specific problems or errors.
4. Contact Information: Options for reaching customer support, including live chat, email, or phone support.
5. Community Forums: A space where users can ask questions and share experiences with others.
6. Search Functionality: A feature that allows users to quickly find relevant articles or information by typing keywords.

Overall, the help center aims to empower users with the knowledge they need to effectively use the service or product and to minimize the need for direct support interactions.
